密集してドングリを食べるオンドリの群れ

A dense flock of colorful mandarin ducks is captured in a dynamic scene. Many ducks are in flight, their wings spread wide, creating a sense of movement and energy. The ducks exhibit vibrant plumage with shades of brown, orange, red, blue, and white. They are scattered across a rocky, pebbly area that appears to be a stream or a shallow waterway. The water is splashing, and the overall atmosphere is one of a large, active gathering of these birds. The background is filled with more ducks, some on the ground and others in flight, creating a sense of a vast, bustling colony.
